SPOT THE DIFFERENCE

Six changes in the garden

Look carefully. Circle the six differences in the bottom picture.

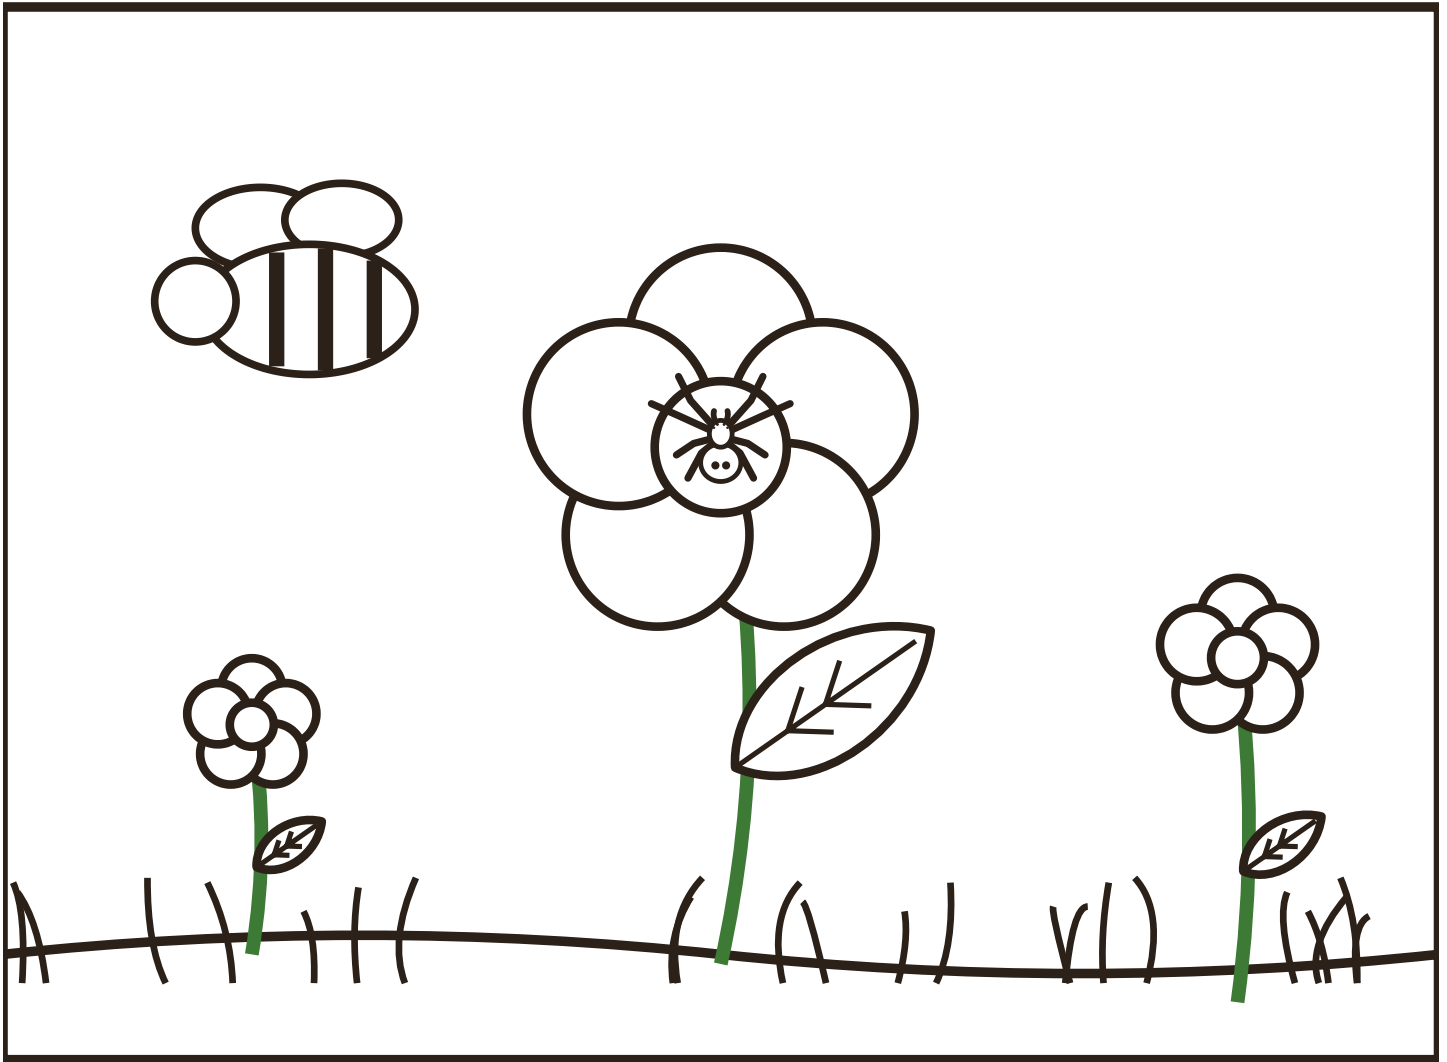

Most orb webs are rebuilt every day. An orb weaver takes only about an hour to weave the spokes and spiral of its web.

Simple drawings by REALLYBYTE, not exact pictures of real spiders.

COLOUR ME

The flower crab spider

Colour the crab spider waiting on the flower, and the bee

The flower crab spider doesn't spin a web. It waits on plants to ambush bees, moths and other insects that come to feed on flowers. The female can change colour to match her surroundings; the much smaller male can't.

SPIDER FACTS POSTER

Silk

An orb web hung with water droplets, in Germany.

Every spider spins it

All spiders make silk, but only about half of all spider species build webs to catch prey.

Spiders are the only animals that use silk in almost every part of their daily lives: to protect their young, catch food, make homes and get about.

Ten kinds of silk gland are known in spiders, and one species can have up to eight, each making silk for a different job.

A strand of spider silk long enough to go all the way round the Earth would weigh less than 500 grams.
